The Mace

The faculty marshal will lead the processional and recessional, bearing the College mace. The ceremonial mace carried in today's Commencement exercise is used at many educational institutions and symbolizes internal authority over members and the independence from external authority. Its origin dates to European military and royalty of the Middle Ages. ACC's first mace is a staff made of turned walnut with the College seal and carriage crafted from brushed aluminum. In 2014, the mace and the walnut stand were designed and crafted by ACC Carpentry students and integrated with the metal parts manufactured by the Computer-Integrated Machining students.

About Our Speaker

JACK OVERACRE

VICE PRESIDENT, GLOBAL DELIVERY EXCELLENCE AT KYNDRYL

Jack Overacre is a 1969 graduate of the Technical Institute of Alamance (TIA), the predecessor institution of Alamance Community College. Upon graduating from TIA, Mr. Overacre earned an Associate of Applied Science degree in Business Data Processing. Mr. Overacre has said that the Technical Institute of Alamance taught him the skills he needed at the time because his associate degree led to employment with IBM just three days after graduating.

Through the years, Mr. Overacre worked his way up the corporate ladder at IBM, holding various management positions including Finance, Development, Information Systems and Global Services. When IBM split into two companies in 2021, Mr. Overacre remained with the infrastructure services division now known as Kyndryl, a company that designs, builds, manages and develops large-scale information systems. Kyndryl is the world's largest IT infrastructure services provider and the fifth-largest consulting provider.

During his employment with IBM, Mr. Overacre served as Vice President of Technology Operations for the 1996 Atlanta Summer Olympics, the 1998 Winter Olympics in Nagano, Japan and the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney, Australia. His accolades include The IBM Excellence Award and the Leader of the Pack Award.

In 2017, Mr. Overacre worked to ensure that Alamance Community College was part of the IBM New Collar Apprenticeship program. Originally, only Wake Tech and Durham Tech were included due to their proximity to IBM's Research Triangle Park (RTP) location. One of the first ACC apprentices was awarded a patent based on design work he had created at IBM.

Mr. Overacre was the first recipient of Alamance Community College's Distinguished Alumni Award. He joined the ACC Foundation Board of Directors in 2006 and has served as chair of the Investment Committee. He is currently in line to assume the Foundation presidency in 2026.

HONORS PROGRAM

The core mission of the Honors Program is to enhance the education of students eager for advanced studies and those with untapped potential. It provides them with a transformative learning experience that promotes critical thinking, community engagement, and academic exploration. Graduates wearing the gold and blue cords are members of ACC's Honors Program.

PHI THETA KAPPA

Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) is the international honor society of two-year colleges and is the largest honor society in American higher education with more than 2.5 million members and 1,275 chapters located in all 50 states, U.S. territories, Canada, Germany and Japan. Members must have a minimum GPA of 3.5.

PTK has four hallmarks: scholarship, leadership, fellowship and service. The golden regalia is a symbol of their accomplishments in these areas and a pledge to pursue these ideals throughout their lives.

The Gonfalons

ACC's 2024 Commencement ceremony inaugurates the usage of four gonfalons, ceremonial banners that represent the College's four primary divisions: High School Equivalency; Business, Arts & Sciences; Health & Public Services; and Applied Engineering, Agriculture, and Skilled Trades. Each measuring 26 inches x 60 inches and mounted on wooden poles, ACC's gonfalons bear the College seal and colors and are carried into the auditorium by selected faculty members or honored students.

Used in processions and dating back to medieval origins, gonfalons are a physical representation of the celebration of achievement. The word gonfalon comes from the Italian word confalone, the name given to a neighborhood meeting in medieval Florence. Each neighborhood that attended the confalone brought a representative flag and coat of arms. Ultimately, the word became associated with the flag itself.

The gonfalon banners were later used by religious communities, especially by Christian denominations, where they had great significance and were used to represent holy symbols during processions. With the rise of the Renaissance and Enlightenment periods, gonfalons were gradually adopted by educational institutions and are used in both the religious and educational communities to this day.

Alamance Community College is proud to honor and continue this centuries-long tradition.

Academic Costume

Academic costume worn today at American college exercises goes back in its essential features to the Middle Ages. The oldest universities of northern Europe, such as Paris and Oxford, grew out of church schools, and both faculty and students were regarded in the Middle Ages as a part of the clergy. They wore clerical costumes, largely borrowed from the monastic dress of that day, not just on special occasions but as their regular costume.

The head covering of the academic costume developed from the skull cap worn by the clergy in cold weather to protect their tonsured heads. In the universities, this skull cap acquired a point on top, which gradually evolved into a tassel. The bonnet with tassel is still worn by degree holders of European universities. In America, it has been replaced by the familiar mortar board which still retains the medieval tassel.

The hood (the medieval caputium) was originally a head covering worn over the head in bad weather and otherwise dropped on the shoulders as the monk's cowl. At first it was worn by faculty and students alike, but in the early sixteenth century, it was restricted to graduates; thus it became the mark of a degree holder. Today, each college has its distinctive hood lining by which its graduates may be recognized in academic processions.

The gown worn today is the medieval robe and seems to have been borrowed from the habit of the Benedictine monks. In the Middle Ages, undergraduates, bachelors, and masters could be distinguished by the simplicity or elaborateness of their gowns. The doctor's gown was often furred—this survives today in the ornamentation found on the doctoral gowns. Usually the gown is black, but some colleges have colored gowns.

The wide, velvet borders extending down the front of the doctoral gown, the velvet bars on the sleeves, and the borders of most hoods are colored according to the scholarly field of the wearer. Some of these are:
